Coursecheck vs other survey tools

Any survey tool can be used to collect feedback. But generic survey tools like Survey Monkey and Google Forms are not developed to meet the specific needs of training teams who want instant answers to questions such as:

How does e-learning feedback compare with face-to-face training or live online?

Is our feedback getting better or worse?

Is there any detailed feedback that we need to act on immediately?

Which of our courses or instructors are getting the best / worst feedback?

Coursecheck makes it easy to collect learner feedback.
But it's what comes next that makes the difference.
